

Two images are provided: one for server profile and the other for client profile. Both are defined in MyGUI.java in the application package.

How to run the program?

1. Execute Main.java in server package
2. Execute Main.java in client package

You will get two GUIs to perform the chat

How to end the chat between a client and the server?

Client can end the chat by closing client-side GUI window. This will close the connection between that particular client and the server. But, the server should still run- waiting for the new clients.